We're from

As the nation prepared to observe the bicentennial, Pettisville residents had other things to celebrate as well. Both the band and choir received superior ratings from all judges at district competition. There were also outstanding scholastic achievements. The Spanish I and Spanish II teams placed first in the state in tests taken at Bowling Green. Of course the highlight of the year was the first trip to Columbus by a Pettisville basketball team. Enthusiastic fans gave great support as they followed the Birds through tournament. Not to be outdone, the baseball team advanced to the regionals for the fifth time in the past eight years. In our nation's bicentennial year, the people of Pettisville put pride for their school right next to pride for their country.

One unit of study we enjoyed this year was the study of good eating habits and eating well balanced, nutritious meals. Some new foods we tried were toasted pumpkin seeds, but a few of us did not like the corn muffins or soybeans. We also learned it is important not to taste food that strangers give us.

An exciting thing happened to us this year. We all wrote our names on a paper and sent them to President Ford to wish America a happy birthday. Guess what! We received a letter from President Ford thanking us. It made us feel very important. We had fun making crystals in science. At Christmas time we made candy canes. Listening to tapes was one of our daily activities. We found them to be fun as well as helpful.

We entered first grade eager and anxious to learn all there was to learn. Reading became an exciting way to discover things about our world. It was fun, too, to read about strange and funny things. We think we have become good readers. For our country's special 200th birthday, we planted a bicentennial tree. We wonder how it will look in 12 years. What about 200 years?! We leave first grade ready, eager and anxious to see what second grade can teach us.

This year we worked with the 200th birthday of the United States by making our own $3.00 bills and designing an American flag. In math, we studied time, money, the metric system, and place value. In reading, we concentrated on comprehension. Another important unit of study was that of the postal service.

Mrs. Holland

Max Nofziger listens carefully as Mrs. Dorothy Holland explains his assignment.

Boys and girls in Room 103 had fun learning how to be chefs this year. We made our own holiday treats of doughnuts, skillet cookies, finger jello, Christmas cookies, popcorn and mashed potato fudge. This required reading recipes, measuring ingredients and timing. Everyone found that it was fun to work together and also pretty good eating!

This year we third graders worked on developing our self-image by working with others constructively. We also improved our communication skills through reading and language. Multiplication and division were introduced this year. Most of us found that learning through games can be fun and challenging. We enjoyed learning about maps and the ways they are used, along with the many different symbols needed in reading them.

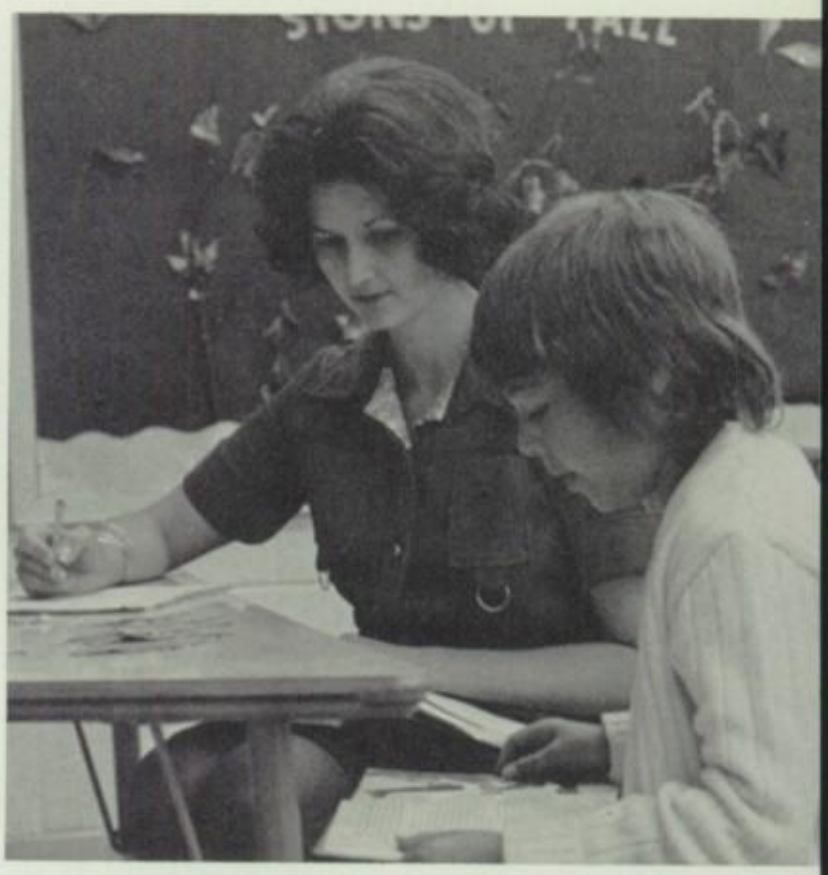
Most of us learned to read better this year, and we enjoyed spending free time in our library corner. Learning to multiply and divide was fun, especially when we played games to increase our speed. To celebrate the bicentennial, we studied about our country's past and then tried doing some things like our great-grandparents did them.

Grade Four:
Mrs. Meyer



Mrs. Joan Meyer listens closely as Jodi Nofziger practices reading aloud.

We enjoyed various activities this year. Working in groups gave us opportunities to learn to know and get along with classmates. Christmas time brought lots of fun and lots of work in decorating our classroom and doing Christmas art projects. We learned a lot about electricity in science and especially found the film "Our Friend, the Atom" very helpful and interesting.

We were small in number this year--but mighty with ideas. We had opportunities to use our creative ideas in writing, sharing our ideas about problems of today, and using different art media. Our new language series proved to be a more exciting approach to better use of our language. A new pull-down screen was handy for movies and slides. A new Mathiputer provided fun while learning facts. With three Johns, two Gregs, and other interesting lads and lassies, every day was marked with excitement.

Grade Five: Mr. Pfund

Lots of hard work sprinkled with fun is the best way to describe our year in Room 112. Group work, math games, spelling bees, riddles, and discussion groups were some of the things we did to keep school interesting and lively. We also spent time discussing our needs, both physical and emotional. By doing this, we gained a greater appreciation for the people around us.

A highlight of the year was making our "Bookworm". By January, it stretched three-quarters of the way around the room. Each pupil that read a book and reported on it added a segment to the worm. We found our new English textbooks both informative and interesting. Students learned to cooperate by planning special parties.

Special Education: Miss Yedica

The 1975-76 school year brought many exciting things. Learning about ourselves and our feelings was an important part of our education. We studied how we live and how other people live. We also worked on bus and school safety and learned to recognize important signs. We wrote our own books and newspaper and had our own store. Dressed as Pilgrims and Indians we enjoyed sharing a Thanksgiving snack with Mrs. McMaster's class. Celebrating a Mexican Christmas was fun.

Graduation is a time of mixed emotions

As every class before them has discovered, the 1976 seniors found that graduation created a variety of emotions ranging from pride and satisfaction to doubt and apprehension. Their years as a class may have ended, but good times still lay ahead in a senior trip to Florida.

The spirit of

The spirit of "76" was very apparent in Pettisville this year. A pig roast in the fall and the Country Store helped to provide funds for the Bicentennial activities. Old-time movies were also viewed on the school lawn. The townsmen were encouraged to grow beards. The parade in June was a grand finale to the bicentennial activities in Pettisville.

Many community people gathered at the Pettisville railroad crossing on a cold, drizzly night awaiting to catch a glimpse of the American Freedom Train as it passed through Pettisville enroute to Archbold. What a thrill to hear the whistle of the steam engine as it approached Pettisville and to see the lovely lighted panels of the various cars as the train chugged slowly by! Here the American Freedom Train stands proudly as a monument to the past 200 years awaiting the arrival of the thousands of viewers which were to see it that weekend in June of 1975.

FAR ABOVE LEFT. Townspeople gather on the school lawn to chat about the good old days as they await the showing of the old-time movies sponsored by the bicentennial committee.
FAR ABOVE RIGHT. Mr. Dale Schrock prepares to make popcorn the old-fashioned way to serve the spectators of the old-time movies.

We, the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Meet the seniors in St. Louis

ABOVE RIGHT. Dad, portrayed by Kurt Nofziger, discusses the possibility of leaving St. Louis for a job in New York with mom, played by Deb Leininger.
CENTER RIGHT. Lisa McLaughlin, Roxanne Mock and Melanie Schnitkey as Agnes, Esther and Rose, the three oldest daughters, show their dislike of having to move to New York.
BELOW RIGHT. Grandpa, Phil Nofziger, looks on as Tootie, Lenore Worline, tells her brother, Tom Beck, to go ahead and kill her if he wants to.

The World's Fair is about to begin in St. Louis in the year 1904 when Mr. Smith decides to take a job in New York. His four daughters, who have plans of their own and boyfriends to think of in St. Louis, cannot accept the idea of moving away. Their schemes to change their father's mind result in the loss of his job and almost land the family in jail. Misunderstandings are finally straightened out and Mr. Smith is given a better job in St. Louis.

BELOW LEFT. Mr. Dodge, played by Tom Klopfenstein, attempts to make a phone call while his meek little "yes" man, Charlie Frey, tries to keep busy.
BELOW. Fred, played by Kent Rychener, is greeted at the door by Ida, Gloria Rufenacht.

The crowd follows the juniors "Off the Track"

The juniors presented the play, "Off the Track". The story took place in the waiting room of a small country railroad station. Because of the strange mixture of personalities, the passengers found it hard to get along with one another, especially when Mrs. Vanderventer's valuable pearls were found to be missing.

Bill Lindsay, acting as lawyer, organized a trial after Mrs. Guarino was accused of taking the string of pearls. The play was directed by Mrs. Loretta Brannan with the help of the student director, Dorothy Montgomery, and her assistant, Kelly Brown.

Evalina Bumpass, portrayed by Beth Schlabach, accuses her fiance, Willie Woodson, Mark Wyse, of eyeing the foxy college girls.

ABOVE RIGHT. The three college girls, Beth Short, Barb Rupp and Linda Schrock, and the young lawyer, LaDell Gautsche, kill time while waiting for the train.

Fifth grade helps celebrate bicentennial

The fifth graders promoted the bicentennial spirit by presenting "Let George Do It." Under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Rupp, the operetta colorfully depicted famous scenes in the history of America. The operetta was a big hit with the audience.

ABOVE. Cindy Richer, Marlin Frey, Chris Wagler, Roger Leininger and Rozanne Beck sang about the discovery of America.
FAR ABOVE RIGHT. Fifth grade chorus girls paid tribute to the father of our nation, George Washington.

BELOW. Scott Knapp stole the show with his excellent performance as narrator.

"Night Lights of Venice" shine

No observer would ever guess that the beautiful Italian scene he stepped into as he crossed the bridge over a blue canal was a part of the same gymnasium in which he had cheered his basketball team to victory. The walls were lined with quaint cafes and shining brass street lamps. Appetizers were served at one cafe complete with wine racks and strands of drying fruit. One end of the room was transformed into a garden, with urns of colorful flowers and greenery, statues and a bubbling fountain. But the main attraction was the striking chalk mural, depicting European stone buildings with glowing stained-glass windows and brilliant flowers. The entertainment for the evening began with music by the Company, a group from Archbold High School. Mr. Larry Mourdock acted as master of ceremonies. Later the guests saw THE HEARTBREAK KID at Bryan, bowled at Delta, and finished celebrating the 1976 Junior-Senior Banquet with a breakfast back at the school.

ABOVE. Servers Linda Nafziger and Dallas Schrock pause by the fountain to chat with the hostess, Mrs. Pauline Rupp.
CENTER. Relaxing after their lasagna dinner are Mr. and Mrs. David Lersch, Mr. and Mrs. David Ripke, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rupp.

The FHA theme for the year was "Molding the Future," with the main focus on the young and the elderly in the community. Members were encouraged to build up a relationship with the elderly by delivering homemade cookies and singing Christmas carols. New relationships were developed with children by sponsoring a children's party and an Easter egg hunt. To support the state project, the Children's Hospital in Columbus, the group raised $150.00 through a carnival which was held in the gym.

Este club es el mejor del mundo

Este ano fue un año muy prospero para el Club de Español. El club fue uno de los más grandes de la historia de Pettisville. Todos se divertieron mucho, especialmente al comer en un restaurante mexicano, al cantar villancicos para familias mexicanas, al preparar y probar diferentes platos del mundo espanol y al hacer un lechón asado. Costumbres y tradiciones españolas fueron estudiadas con mucho interés.

The 1975-76 edition of the Pettisville Blackbirds completed the most successful season in the school's history. The Blackbird Varsity, composed of a talented group of nine seniors and three juniors, became the first school in fifty years to represent Fulton County in the State Basketball Finals. The team ended the season with a record of 25-2 as well as being State Runner-Up. One of the highlights of the regular season was the team's 56-51 win over defending State Champion Marion Local. The Blackbirds only regular season defeat came at the hands of Stryker, 58-53. This loss also ended the 32 game regular season winning streak which the last three varsity teams had established. Hitting their peak at tournament time, the Birds accomplished what no other Pettisville basketball team had done in the school's history. Along their way to Columbus the Blackbirds captured their fourth straight Sectional Championship, and first ever Regional Championship. Playing before approximately 14,000 people in both games at St. John's Arena, the Blackbirds knocked off No. 2 ranked Arcanum in the semi-finals before bowing to Indian Valley South in the finals. Leading the way for the Blackbirds was an outstanding group of seniors whose names were synonomous with winning. The nine seniors who led P.H.S. to Columbus were more commonly known as Buke, Himey, Max, Orvis, T.B., Dino, Moon, Turkey, and Kenzie. The Varsity was coached by Mr. Phil Rychener, who extended his two-year coaching record to 47-3. Assistant Coach Mr. Stephen Brannan was a tremendous help on the bench.

Queen reigns in "Rhapsody in Blue"

The 1975-76 Homecoming was held in the Wauseon gym to accommodate the large crowd. The program was held before both games with Patrick Henry and was emceed by seniors Linda McQuillin and Neal Burkholder.

Starting forward for the varsity basketball team, Marv Meck, was one of the players chosen to represent the squad in excorting the queen.

Our lovely Queen Brenda Gnagey, a member of the senior class, was chosen by the student body to reign as their queen over the homecoming ceremonies.

The other player chosen to represent the team in the ceremonies was starting center Tom Beck of the varsity squad.

Senior attendant, Ronna Riegsecker, was escorted by Ken Gruenhagen.

Mike Grieser was the escort of the junior attendant, Mabel Meck.

Michael Vela, kindergarten attendant, carried the crown for the queen.

Kindergarten attendant, Shelly Villaloves, carried the pink roses for the queen.

Escorting the sophomore attendant, Dawn Colon, was Brent Rychener.

Dawn Lersch, the freshman attendant, was escorted by Lonnie Rufenacht.

Young birds show promise

The Class of '79 picked up where they left off last year by completing their second straight undefeated season and again winning the tournament championship. The eighth grade finished with an 11-3 record and captured the runner-up trophy in tournament. The seventh grade ended the season with a 5-8 record and placed third in an invitational tournament.

This was the first year for the girls' athletic organization to be known as the Girls' Interscholastic Association. The basketball, softball and volleyball teams belonged to specific leagues and participated in their tournaments. The girls were kept busy with almost daily practices and scheduled games.

The Varsity Golf Team finished the season with a 5-4 record. They placed fifth in the Buckeye Border Conference meet and tenth in the sectional tournament. The Reserve Golf Team had a record of 0-2, but they gained valuable experience and practice.

The Cross Country Team ended their initial season with a 3-5 record and placed sixth in the Buckeye Border Conference meet. They were led by all-league selection Jose DeLeon who along with Orlando Santiago qualified for the district meet.

The Senior Boys' Bowling Team placed second in their league but finished strong to take first place in tournament. The Girls' Bowling Team had an outstanding season as they finished number one in league play as well as in the tournament.
